English Breakfast is a traditional blend of black teas originating from Assam, Ceylon, and Kenya. It is one of the most popular blended teas, common in British and Irish tea culture.

Earl Grey is a tea blend which has been flavoured with the addition of bergamot. The rind's fragrant oil is added to black tea to give Earl Grey its unique taste. Traditionally Earl Grey was made from black teas such as China keemun and therefore intended to be taken with lemon.

Assam is a black Indian tea named after the region of its production Assam. It has a comforting malty flavour and a bright colour.

Green Tea originates from China. This type of tea is made using leaves and buds that have not been withered and oxidised as is the process to make Oolong and black teas.

Peppermint Tea being an infusion of fresh peppermint leaves is naturally caffeine free and is renowned for its many health benefits.

Chamomile Tea is another herbal infusion made from dried flowers. German and Roman chamomile's are commonly used for their gentle notes of apple and mellow honey-like sweetness with delicate floral notes.

Lapsang Souchong a black tea from the mountainous Wuyi region in the province of Fujian, China. Distinct from other teas by its unique smokey pine flavour, as the leaves are traditionally smoked dried over pine-wood fires.

Jasmine Tea is the most famous scented tea. Green tea is its base however black and white teas are also used. It is subtly sweet and highly fragrant.
